

Enhance your architecture with Flux Lighting

Expertise - Savoir Faire

Designplan are pleased to announce they have become the partner of Flux Lighting in the UK and Ireland. As sister companies within the Fagerhult Lighting Group, Designplan are delighted to promote this innovative French manufacturing lighting company. Flux offer a complete range of external LED products using the philosophy of "easy to implement and easy to use".

Flux, in the same way as Designplan, drive for the highest standards in design, manufacture, and technical performance and the ability to do this "in-house" ensures consistency in an ever-changing market.

The avant-garde range of Flux products include post tops, bollards, linear luminaires, floodlights and a DMX wireless system - an extensive range of external lighting options. With this broad selection, we can offer our customers an extended solution for functional and decorative lighting specifications.

Flux develop all their products from start to finish with the use of sustainable design. State of the art testing facilities gives assurance of both product quality and their suitability for challenging external environments.
